The Treasury Department at Washington has notified the Dominion of Canada authorities that fresh or frozen fish caught in Canadian fresh waters will be admitted into the United States free when caught with nets or other devices owned by citizens of the United States.

A blood-hunting engine of war has recently been invented. Electricity is the chief point in its construction, and it is carried on a light wagon drawn by a couple of horses. Four men can discharge it four times in 15 minutes, each discharge throwing 25,000 bullets over a surface of 22,000 yards.

Visitors to the World's fair who have been kissing what they believed to be the Blarney stone have been wasting their time, as it is said that the original stone is still in Ireland, while the Chicago stone is nothing more than a fake. According to an affidavit of Sir George Covehewist, owner of Blarney Castle, the real stone is intact and is being kissed regularly by pilgrims to the Castle.

In the test of endurance in the United States senate in order to repeal the Sherman silver law, the silver senators came out first, the repealers being obliged to give up the idea of keeping the senate in session until the bill to repeal the law was passed. The bill is still before the senate and it is only a question of time until public opinion will compel the senate to find some way of allowing the majority to rule.

The supply of wheat in this country decreased in market value some $9,000,000 last week. Nothing in the matter of supply and demand caused this decrease. Its cause is attributed by men of judgment and experience to the delay in the senate on the silver bill. This is what the silver senators are costing the farmers. What are the laboring men and manufacturers and merchants paying for their share in the glorious senate?

It is stated that Ex-President Harrison does not approve of the House bill repealing the obnoxious provisions of the Federal Election law. In the course of Democratic administration many things are likely to be done which will not please Mr. Harrison. One of the reasons why the people of the United States concluded to dispense with his services was because of his belief in propriety of Federal interferences with elections.

Returns of the condition of the national banks on October 3 received by the Comptroller of currency indicate a marked increase in reserve over the sums so held on July 12 last. The large additions to the currency and the flood of gold imports within the last three months have given desired stability to our financial institutions; which, but for the lack of confidence caused by Congressional inaction, would speedily be reflected in every branch of industrial and commercial enterprise.

The proposition of Senator Hill, of New York, to amend the senate rules as to provide that after a question shall have been under consideration for thirty days the senate may, by a majority vote, fix the time for taking a final vote, is altogether fair. It would give full time for discussion in the senate, and for criticism and protest in the country at large. We trust that Senator Hill will find a way to get a vote on his proposition. Majorities must rule in this country. If the majorities make mistakes, the corrective power lies with the people.

Some scientist has figured out that wheat from the time it is threshed will shrink two quarts to the bushel or 6 per cent in six months, even under the most favorable circumstances. Hence it follows that 94 cents per bushel when it is first threshed in August is as good as $1 the following February. Corn shrinks much more from the time it is husked. 100 bushels of ears from the field in November being reduced to about 80. So 40 cents per bushel for corn as it comes from the field is as good as 50 cents the next March. Potatoes shrink so much that between October and next spring the loss to the owner who holds them is nearly 20 per cent.

The Government report on breadstuffs, has at last made its appearance. The returns indicate a yield of about 11.3 bushels to the acre which is 1.7 bushels per acre below the figures of 1892. The falling off attributed chiefly to drought and backward weather in many states. The quality of the East, South and Pacific states is up to the average, but in the territory from which the commercial supplies are obtained it is below this point. With a big surplus on hand last fall, it was argued that there would have been more money in a smaller crop, as the great supply had a tendency to keep prices down. The verdict of the producers on the yield of 1893 has not been received yet, but unless Prof. Totten's millennium asserts itself very soon, it will likely reverse the opinions of last year.

So eminent an authority as Judge Cooley says that the situation in the senate is a revolution. Under the senate rules we no longer have majority government. We have only such government as minorities may choose to permit. This is not the government contemplated by the constitution. It is the exact reverse of all that the constitution intends, remarks the New York World.

The practical results of this new system are obvious. If a determined minority can forbid a vote on the silver repeal bill, a similar minority can forbid legislation upon any and every other subject. It is certain that this will be done in every case in which the opposition is strenuous.

Now that such use of the Senate rules is accepted as legitimate the senate broken down as a legislative body. It has become a mere debating society—worse than that, a body where drawn conclusions for more than brains and talk abstracts are shown. It has no power to act except upon measures to which there is no strong opposition.

The House bill for the repeal of the Federal Election laws will presently come before the senate. Every member of the Democratic majority desires to pass it. But it cannot be passed without a vote, and the majority need never allow a vote to be had upon it while the present system endures.

The same thing is true of the coming tariff bill and of every other measure which this Congress may try to enact by writing Democratic principles and policies into the law.

These Democratic Senators who have put this veto power into the hands of their adversaries by alliance with the mining camp and sage brush Republicans will hardly contemplate their work with complacency when its full effects appear.

Just how much of this country, says the Johnstown Democrat, the Barkers own or are pretending to own can not be definitely settled; yet still appear to have the power of indefinitely expanding their hold upon the public. Not only did they step forward at the last minute, and take the citizenship nomination for himself, thrusting aside other men who had been before made to stand back for ring favorites, but his lieutenants are now promising next year's offices.

As a means of "taffying" the friends of David Coulter, who were very sore over Mr. Coulter's being thrust aside to make way for Flory, at the Republican convention, the "leaders" are telling them that they—the Barkers—will make Mr. Coulter sheriff next year. This might work pretty well, except for the fact that the friends of Capt. Thomas Davis claim that the sheriavalty plum has been promised to their favorite.

Of course the Barker people own the whole string of offices; they can promise nominations a year ahead, and make them, too. The rank and file—the voters—of the Republican party have nothing to say; they are not consulted until the Barker gang have fixed things up.

But we shall see; there are a great many Republican voters who are getting tired of the Barker yoke. Their voice will be heard in November.

At the closing of the session of the state board of agriculture in Kittanning, on Thursday afternoon, Governor Pattison was requested to give his views on the question of taxation. He began by saying that the only way to decrease taxes is to decrease expenditures. He said the revenue laws of this state are the most complicated work imaginable, and no lawyer outside of Dauphin county pretends to be able to construe them correctly. They are a specialty study. As a remedy he advised the abolishment of the whole system and the adoption, instead, of the plans of the larger municipalities for raising finances. His scheme is that the auditor general and legislature every two years, in January, fix a rate on the basis of the amount taxable, consisting of the paid-up capital of corporations, collateral inheritance tax and income from fees. The auditor is to submit his budget to the legislature and it shall fix the millage. In this way the necessary amount of tax, and only that, can be raised yearly. Another result would be that corporations would lobby for economical legislation rather than for extravagance.

Congress on Monday afternoon, by a vote of 167 to 9, passed the McCrea Chinese bill with amendments. The bill as passed extends the provisions of the Geary law six months, defines Chinese laborers and Chinese merchants, makes mandatory photographic identification, requires marshals to carry out orders for deportation, jailing Chinese without bail pending the execution of deportation writs, and excludes Chinamen convicted of felony from permission to register.

Mr. Geary declares that the bill as passed is perfectly satisfactory to the east and if enforced at the expiration of the time limit will settle the Chinese problem. Those who departed will not be able to transfer their registration certificates, and in course of time all will disappear from these shores. The administration is also satisfied with the bill, so chairman McCrea, of the foreign affairs committee, avers.

ALTHOUGH the Columbian Exposition will formally close October 31, the directors declare that it will be re-opened on November 1, and will continue as long as the enterprise shall be profitable. Supplementary seasons are rarely successful, but there's no telling what those wonderful Chicago geniuses may do if only the November skies shall prove kindly.

The President has written to President Higginbotham of the World's Columbian Exposition, expressing his regrets that he and Mrs. Cleveland are unable to accept the invitation recently tendered them to visit the World's Fair before it is permanently closed.

READING, Oct. 16.—Yesterday no less than sixteen new cases of small-pox were reported, making forty one new cases for the week. During the same period there were thirty discharges. There are now thirty-eight houses marked and forty cases in the hospital, and the number of deaths fifteen. With all this increase the Board of Health could not secure a quorum to-day, its regular meeting day.

McKEEPORT, Oct. 17.—Law Delmer and Miss Ida Wilson, a very youthful couple, claiming to hail from California, Pa., came to this city last evening and took the Baltimore and Ohio Eastern Express for Cumberland, where they expect to be married. Their departure from home was so sudden that the young man forgot his money and was compelled to sell his watch in order to raise funds to make the journey.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 13, 1893.—Senator Voorhees began his attempt to force a vote on his bill for the unconditional repeal of the purchasing clause of the Sherman anti-trust law, on Wednesday, by compelling the Senate to remain in continuous session. It was clear from the beginning that the margin over and above a quorum, which the followers of the senator had endeavored to keep in the floor constantly, was entirely too small, even if half of them were not Republicans who had not pledged themselves to any extra efforts, to give any reasonable hope of bringing out the opponents of the bill, who could get all the rest they needed, as they only kept two or three Senators on the floor at a time, one to speak and the others to demand a call of the Senate whenever the majority present fell below a quorum. That being the situation it seems to your correspondent that the only real reason for holding this continuous session is to extend by a few days the time for the adjournment of Congress if the continued session of the Senate failed to reach a vote, but the idea was not popular with the Senators, and it looks now as though some disposition will be made to adjourn the silver question before there is an adjournment, and that will be a compromise which can be accepted without any sacrifice of principle by all the Democratic Senators. It is certainly a very positive in saying that he will take no part in a compromise. Everybody in Washington knew that the number of votes was usually spoken of as "office holding families," the members of which were never known to engage in any other employment than working for the Government, was considerable, but no one dreamed of the actual number of representatives. It was this week presented to the House a partial report of the joint committee which is investigating departmental methods and work. More than 4,000 families have members in the members of Congress, some as many as seven, eight and nine. More than half of the 17,599 United States employes in this city are furnished with these 4,000 families, and yet there is a rule against the employment of members of the same family. No one was more surprised at the figures in this report than were the heads of the departments, and it can be stated to a certainty that they will not resist the legislation to reduce the number of one-family employes in their respective departments. To put it in popular language, these families have had a snap for a long time and will not be step down and out and give other people a chance.

The 97 majority by which the House passed the Tacker bill for the repeal of the Federal Election laws, has not been reported in the House, but the Democratic dissatisfaction with the bill and the difficulty there would be in getting a Democratic quorum on the floor when the time came to vote. Every Democratic member of the House who was in Washington voted for the bill, and none were absent except from unavoidable causes. The Democrats of the House believe in doing business and doing it promptly, and their records up to this time have been unexcelled.

Representative McCrea's bill proposed an extension of six months in the time within which Chinese in this country may register, and other modifications in the Geary Chinese exclusion act, is now being considered by the House, where it has been given the right of way until disposed of. This bill, which Representative McCrea introduced, is in the interest of civilization and humanity, it is the result of a request of the Chinese government made of Secretary Gresham by the new Chinese minister, who promised that all of the Chinamen now in the United States should register if the time was extended.

Senators and Representatives seem very much in earnest about providing for the erection of a new Government Printing Office, and fresh efforts are being made to determine upon the location of a site therefor. It is certainly to be hoped that the present efforts will succeed and a new building is necessary. There is not one word of truth in the sensational story out from here early this week saying that Secretary Gresham had asked Postmaster General Bassell to relinquish a dismissed Republican postoffice official, stationed in Ohio, and had been refused.

CHLORFORM USED. HUNTINGTON, IND., Oct. 17.—All the passengers in one of the "day coaches" on the Chicago and Erie Road were chloroformed shortly after leaving this city Saturday night. The passengers were most all asleep when the chloroform was used. The brakeman on going through the car saw that something was wrong. He went into one of the sleepers and found a doctor, who detected the smell of chloroform as soon as he entered the car. The doors and windows were thrown open and the victims were soon all right again. Robbery was evidently intended.

EMERALD BURGLARS. ADRIAN, MICH., October 16.—S. Scoville, of this place, is visiting the world's fair with all his family. Last night officers saw two burglars in the Scoville residence and arrested them after a struggle, in which one of the officers had his eyes filled with cayenne pepper. The two burglars were found to be Bessie Church and Mrs. Church, mother of Bessie. They were dressed in masculine garb when arrested. Both Mrs. Church and her daughter have moved in the highest society circles of Adrian.

EIGHTEEN SAILORS DROWNED. BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 15.—Eighteen persons, the entire crew of the propeller boat Richmond, are given up for lost in last night's storm on Lake Erie. The corpses of five have been washed ashore at Buffalo Point, 4 miles from this city. The shore of the lake is strewn with wreckage and merchandise, and the waves are hourly yielding up further evidences of the fate to which the Richmond was doomed. The schooner Typo is thought to have gone down, with her crew, off Gravel bay, on the Canadian side.

HAD TO OWN HIS WATCH. McKEEPORT, Oct. 17.—Law Delmer and Miss Ida Wilson, a very youthful couple, claiming to hail from California, Pa., came to this city last evening and took the Baltimore and Ohio Eastern Express for Cumberland, where they expect to be married. Their departure from home was so sudden that the young man forgot his money and was compelled to sell his watch in order to raise funds to make the journey.

She then went to her father's home, where she lived with her father. Since his wife left him Winn had showed a determination to obtain possession of his child at any cost.

There is great excitement over the mysterious disappearance and probable death of four hunters on the Grange Wood in Four corners, Colo., who have been lost since Sept. 25. The missing men are named Doster, Reynolds, Mack and Wood. The men were hunting and one of them had got lost and the others went out to find him, and as none of the four returned Mr. McCreary, the doctor at Rawlins, Wyo., and informed the authorities.

Charles Parker, a Swede, 28 years old, who has worked as a farm hand near Zumbreta Minn., for four years, and later in a dairy in St. Paul, was arrested on Friday morning on a spree and turned out to be a woman, Anna Hedstrom by name. She said: "As a girl I worked in St. Paul when I first came to this country. I didn't like the work I had and could not make a living, so I concluded to dress as a boy and work out at men's work." Her hands are as horny as a bricklayer's.

V. T. Tyler shot his wife, Emma F. Tyler, and then put a bullet in his own head at Minneapolis, Minn., on Sunday. The woman will recover, but the man will die. The couple have been separated. The doctor was called at Oshkosh, Wis., and Tyler had just returned to the city and met his wife on the street. The couple had some words and the wife threatened to call a policeman. Tyler at once pulled a revolver and fired five shots at her and then shot himself through the head.

A bombshell was lately hurled by the commissioners of the county fair of Perry county, Kan., among the farmers' daughters who paint startling plaques and impossible landscapes and embroider gaudy quilts for the county fair, and competition at the county fairs, by announcing that the prize premium in this department will be given "for the best, neatest and most complete pair of patched pantaloons." It is needless to say that an editor's wife captured the prize by the article in which she put a new seat in her husband's trousers.
